THIRSTY CITIZENS OF CHICAGO STILL HAVE HOPE LEFT

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Mayor Thompson may issue ukases and edicts galore, but Chicago will not be entirely dry tomorrow. Where there is thirst there will be drink, providing it is bought before midnight tonight. All supplies of wet goods bought before 12 o'clock can be served in the cafes and restaurants on the Sabbath, under a modification of the airtight Sunday law order made after Corporation Counsel Folsom and Chief of Police Healey conferred.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Headed by 1,000 Chicago ministers, priests and rabbis, fifty thousand men, women and children today marched down Michigan avenue and through the loop, heralding the beginning of a campaign to wipe out Chicago's 7,152 saloons in 1916.

Behind the divines marched 4,000 representatives of Catholic and Jewish organizations, followed by a delegation of 30,000 members of 500 protestant churches and 1,600 boy scouts. H. S. Warner, general secretary of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition association, led 1,000 college boys. Then came 12,000 marchers representing the W. C. T. U., Good Templars, the Anti-Saloon league, the county and national prohibition parties and other organizations.

"We are out to make a cleanup. Chicago will go dry at the next election, April 4, 1916," said G. F. Rinehart, Clinton, Ia., head of the Dry Chicago Federation. "The women are going to do it for us."

Rinehart is the man who made Arizona dry. He walked into the mining camps of Arizona amid threats, but went out amid cheers.

Following the parade petitions to have the proposition put on the ballot will be circulated. A force of 1,000 speakers will harangue voters.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—Mayor Thompson of Chicago arrived here today and from his bathtub in a local hotel issued a statement to newspaper men in which he said:

"If the newspapers want me to talk, tell them that with reference to the cleaning up of Chicago I will enforce the law. As mayor I am sworn to do it, no matter what has been said about pre-election promises, though there is little truth in that. Whatever my personal convictions may be, I can only enforce the law."

The mayor was here to help celebrate Chicago day at the exposition today.

MRS. GALT DELIGHTED WITH ENGAGEMENT SPARKLER
Newark, N. J. (Aboard the Presidential Special), Oct. 9.—Happy as children, President Wilson and his fiancée, Mrs. Norman Galt, are en route to Philadelphia to the world's series game.

On Mrs. Galt's finger gleamed a big solitaire, set in platinum, which sparkled as she removed her gloves after boarding the train at New York. She and the president selected it last night in New York from a collection sent to Colonel House's apartments by a Fifth avenue jeweler.

"Isn't it perfectly beautiful," smiled Mrs. Galt, displaying the gem, as the president looked on in open pride and delight.

COTTON CROP OF THE SOUTH HARD HIT BY CRUEL FATE

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 9.—Boll weevils, Johnny Bull, tropical hurricanes, rots and blights have done their darndest to soak the southern cotton grower right between the first mortgage and the savings account this year. The combined effect of their efforts has been—prosperity.

The 1915 crop is the poorest in years as regards quantity, but the south will make money on it. Growers believe the price will go beyond 12 cents. The very factors that appeared discouraging on the surface made possible strong bullish tendencies. Hence when the weevil and about a million of his relatives swept down on the crop, and likewise when England made cotton contraband, to say nothing of other difficulties such as the Galveston floods, the farmers of the south worried about whether with the increased crop prices they ought to get an eight cylinder or a twin-six.

CAMERAS CLICK AT THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. GALT

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—About 20,000 persons saw the president and his fiancée at the Phillies' park this afternoon. There was also a ball game—the second one of the title series between the Phillies and the Red Sox—but nobody evidenced much interest. The president's fiancée was here. The person whose interest showed most in the ball game was Bill Klem, the demon umpire-in-chief, but even he occasionally took a glance at the president's box.

Speaker showed the crowd some slugging during practice. Jack Barry did some flashy second basing, Dave Bancroft opened a new bag of tricks. Nobody saw them. Nobody applauded.

The president's fiancée was here. In vain did the athletes strike Napoleonic poses.

Nothing doing—the photographers would have none of them. A picture of a ball player can be taken any day.

The presidential box, festooned with flags, banners, and the floor covered with real green carpet, was in the ground tier near the Boston dugout. On one side of it was the box of W. B. Baker, owner of the Phillies; on the other was E. E. Pen-nock's. Neither had a carpet on the floor.

President Wilson and fiancée, Mrs. Galt, arrived at the park at 2:04 p. m. A mighty cheer swept the stadium as the president and Mrs. Galt made their way to the flag-bedecked box reserved for them.

The beautiful future first lady of the land smiled pleasantly in response to cheers. The president bowed and doffed his hat and agreeably posed for an army of photographers.

At their request, he and Mrs. Galt stood facing each other, smiling into each others eyes while the cameras clicked. President Wilson then presented his fiancée to Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg and Owner Baker of the Phillies. The game was delayed four minutes waiting the arrival of the president and his party.

The president showed extreme good nature, but photographers became so persistent that he stood up, and shaking his hand at them, shooed the camera men away. They had been snapping the president and Mrs. Galt for a good five minutes.
